

Claims

What is claimed is:

1. An apparatus, comprising:

a switch core having a first channel that can receive a logical input flow from each of a plurality of input ports, said switch core having a second channel that can receive a raw input flow from each of said plurality of input ports, wherein each logical input flow is carried by its corresponding raw input flow.